

CONG. MILLER AND T. C. HOYT AT NIBLEY HALL

The Democratic Side Stepping Policy
Originates a New Dance

A fair sized and appreciative audience greeted Congressman C. B. Miller of Minnesota and T. C. Hoyt of Ogden, at Nibley Hall, Saturday night. City chairman J. C. Allen acted as chairman of the meeting. After a selection by the band the Republican male quartet sang two selections. Chairman Allen introduced T. C. Hoyt, congressional nominee on the Republican ticket who said in part: "I wish to bring to the people of Logan the assurance that at least 11 counties of the state will give substantial majorities to the Republican party in the coming November election. This is the most momentous campaign in my recollection, and the substantial people of the state want to know the issues. I endorse to the letter both the state and national platform. They are responsive to the highest spirit of Americanism. The present Democratic administration has been unsatisfactory to the people of the country. They were placed in power by a vote of only 42 per cent of the total vote of the nation. Thus one may see that the majority of the people of this country are Republicans."

Sporadic unrest has been responsible for the Democratic success in this instance as well as in the past and the history of the country will show that this success has never been repeated twice in succession. While the Republican party has remained in power year after year and only went out through internal dissension I have a very distinct idea of the work expected of a congressman gained thru my years of work in the different departments of the government at Washington and if elected propose to represent all my constituents and want them to make their wants known that I may more intelligently do so. After a selection by the quartet the chairman introduced Congressman Miller who held the audience closest attention for two hours. In addition to a very pleasing personality a well modulated and controlled voice and an excellent delivery. He made the most forcible and salient campaign addresses ever heard here. He said on entering this beautiful valley he thought he beheld the long sought for Eden. After having traveled westward from Maine, I have discovered the real sentiment of the country and leave this prophecy with you Charles Evan Hughes will be the next president of these United States he further said that the next House would be Republican, but the senate was not so certain urging the people of Utah to return to the Senate, Hon. George Sutherland one of the leading legal minds of the senate. And in the same breath characterized Reed Smoot as one of the leading statesmen of the nation. I have discovered a deep seated unrest in the nation and the Democratic administration is everly criticised. In spite of their published list of progressive and beneficent legislation that they claimed to have enacted since going into power. Let us see how well founded some of these claims are. They claimed to have passed a child labor law, but the Child Labor Bureau appointed to investigate the child labor problem was appointed by Republican Congress and after an investigation covering years made their report to the present administration, with the result that a child labor law was passed in the twinkling of an eye, and the law as passed has no more effect in abolishing child labor than though it was not put on the statute books because of the joker in the same that nullifies its effect.

This legislation as was the eight hour bill recently passed, were passed for political reasons. When President Wilson surrendered to the demands of the four brotherhoods of railway trainmen and passed the eight hour law the most vicious legislative action in the history of America took place. If these brotherhoods can co-erce, the president and United States Congress why not others. This is the most dangerous precedent ever established in the halls of Congress. It is not a law to create an eight hour labor period, but an arbitrary increase of 25 per cent in the wages paid this class of labor. It consequently necessitates an increased cost to the railroads of the country of millions of dollars and you will pay the people will pay this increased cost through increased freight and passenger rates something that we have spent years in trying to reduce.

The Democratic party boasts of prosperity. Is this prosperity due to Democratic rule recalled twenty years ago when the industry of the country were prostrated and even as late as October 1913, after the Underwood law went into effect the same condition began. Then came this great war, that has built up a tariff wall higher and stronger than any ever known before, because the U. S. is the producing nation of the world and all Europe the consumers. South America enjoys the same prosperity from the same cause. A serious economic problem will confront us at the close of the war, and the conditions will be reversed, and protection is necessary or our very industrial life will be jeopardized. The Democrats claim Wilson has kept us out of war. Thank God for Wilson.

I say to you folks now, that we have been kept out of war not because of Wilson, but in spite of him. Are we at war with Mexico. I say yes. But an inglorious war. A deplorable war. When the Republicans turned over the affairs of government to President Wilson there had been years of internal trouble and insurrection in Mexico, but no lives had been lost, no property destroyed. This good old American flag was respected there. It stood for justice and liberty. The Tampico incident known to all was an act of war, in which nineteen of our boys lost their lives. The atrocities to American property owners the massacre of our citizens on peaceful missions bent, until some 500 have lost their lives, would seem to me to be nothing short of war. Our army was ordered into Mexico after the Columbus raid to get Villa dead or alive. What was the result? Our army ordered back home when Carranza said we could go no farther. The cost of these Mexican wars have been over $165,000,000 and now the solution of the Mexican trouble is sought by arbitration.

What is there to arbitrate? The lives that have been lost. The property destroyed, and all of this due to the vacillating policy of the Democratic administration. Give me the stamling shown by Grover Cleveland when he said to Great Britain, if you send a fleet to Venezuela I will consider it an act of hostility, or by Theodore Roosevelt under similar circumstance. The world then knew what we meant and respected us in our rights.

Liberty the priceless gift of civilization was enjoyed by the American citizen in any part of the world, but the side stepping policy of the present administration is humiliating to every patriotic citizen of America. And as a result a new dance has come into popularity over the country. It is called the Wilson slide. You take one step forward, two steps backward, hesitate, salute, then side step. We have now been side stepping for three years. Oh, to have back our place in the sun, under the moon and the stars, and this glorious old flag.

The quartet sang the Star Spangled Banner, and the meeting was adjourned.

THE NEW YORK WORLD ESTIMATE OF MR. HUGHES

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., has given out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

"Probably the most ardent supporter of Woodrow Wilson and the most bitter opponent of Hughes is the New York World, the leader of the Democratic press. In view of its present criticism of Mr. Hughes, for purely partisan reasons, every American voter, of whatever party, should read that paper's estimate of Hughes and his work in the past. The following are excerpts from the columns of that paper during the period of its ownership and control by the late Mr. Pulitzer, who requested in his will that Mr. Hughes serve as a trustee of his estate, a position which Mr. Hughes declined:

"September 18 1905—'HUGHES' ADMIRABLE WORK'. 'His admirable work as Counsel for the Gas Investigating Committee justified the people in accepting from him equally meritorious service as Counsel for the Insurance Investigating Committee. The public has not been disappointed in Mr. Hughes. He has justified every expectation. The World doubts if any legislative investigation in the history of the State was ever conducted with more ability or more rationality. It is evident that Mr. Hughes is going to the very bottom of insurance corruption, and that when he has finished, the policy holders and the people will know for the first time how these great corporations are managed.'

RITER FUNERAL IN TABERNACLE SUNDAY NOON

The mortal remains of Levi Riter were carried into the Tabernacle just before 12 o'clock noon on Sunday, October 1. Six U. A. C. cadets in uniform acting as pallbearers. A large assembly gathered to show their love and respect for Levi Riter, and sympathy for his mother and brothers, and as a silent tribute to the memory of this sterling young man, there were flowers and floral designs in great profusion, the rostrum being laden with these beautiful tokens.

Bishop William Evans of the Third ward presided and as the choir sang Nearer Dear Savior To Thee, every heart in that large audience beat in sympathy for that heroic mother, struggling so bravely to bear up under this trial.

Prayer was offered by Joseph E. Cardon. Prof. Johnson and company sang a quartet, We Shall Meet But We Shall Miss Him, in a most touching manner.

Dr. George Thomas

Dr. George Thomas representing the Utah Agricultural College, spoke in behalf of the college and expressed the sorrow that Levi's instructor felt in his untimely demise, stating that the only balm for the deeply wounded souls of this family can come through the divine spirit of God. He read the 23rd and other Psalms as the words of God, to comfort in affliction. He gave the beloved family the assurance that the Lord is the true Shepherd of all, and gave as an argument for future life and immortality the facts shown us in vegetation, whereby after a sleep of thousands of years seeds will germinate and grow again. Levi Riter was a young man of splendid character and intellect, a rare disposition, one loved by all who knew him and one whom it was always a pleasure to come in contact with. He accomplished as much in 19 short years as he believed possible for any mortal to accomplish. He played that the spirit of God to comfort Sister Riter and sink into her heart to assuage her grief.

A solo, Sometime We'll Understand was very beautifully rendered by Sister Jane Thatcher.

Lewis S. Cardon

Lewis S. Cardon, a life long neighbor of the Riter family, spoke as follows: The flowers before us attest in a small way the love in which Levi Riter was held. I have known him all his life, was at his deathbed, and have observed as all others, the many qualities and sterling honesty of this young man. All the children of our neighborhood loved him. He was as clean in life, in thought and in deed as any young man I have ever known. The boy was always considerate of his mother, thought first and last of her. Our sorrow is not for him but for those deprived of his companionship. Death is a part of life. His dearest is sure. We shall meet and know him if we are worthy to go where he has gone.

Mr. Kirkham, of the U. A. C. sang O, My Father, very impressively.

Seymour B. Young

President Seymour B. Young said in part: I esteem it an honor to offer a few remarks on this occasion. I appreciate these beautiful tributes paid this young relative of mine. I have known the family all their life. I knew Levi and Waldo who is a member of Troop H of the National Guard of Utah. This was a sad home coming for him, but he had a right to be there. His father was a soldier in the Civil War and a braver one never lived. So Waldo comes from the kind of stock who will take up arms in the cause of their country. I never knew a better or a wiser mother than my sister Alice. Left with the responsibility of raising these boys, Levi and Waldo, are samples of what success she has carried out that responsibility. We place these mortal remains in the tomb, but the spirit has gone to God who gave it. He probably has met and embraced his father by this time. Now, I wish to congratulate Sister Alice. She has not lived in vain. God has overruled this incident for good as he does all things, and he hides a smiling face for you Sister Alice Riter, and may the joy and comfort of God come to you and all the boys and all present is my prayer, Amen.

A duet, Sometime Somewhere, was rendered in a touching manner by Misses Gladys Sorensen and Ella Blanchard, of the Third ward.

John Quayle

Brother John Quayle of the Third ward bishopric, under intense feeling told of the activities of Levi in the ward in their priesthood quorums, and he said, I do not understand why so useful an exemplary young man has to be taken from us. He has gone as a bright star to be a beacon light to those left behind. I love those boys and pray the blessings of God to rest on Sister Riter and the brothers, and their uncle, B. F. Riter, who has been as a father to them and has done so much good.

Serge F. Ballif

President S. F. Ballif made a few remarks, testifying to all of the good things said of Levi Riter and the family. He also bore a strong testimony to the truthfulness of the resurrection and cited this boy's life as worthy of emulation.

William Evans

Bishop William Evans of the Third ward thanked all those present and all who had contributed in any way to this bereaved family, either words of comfort or deeds and added his testimony to the truthfulness of the words spoken, as he had known this family as their bishop for nine years. The choir sang the closing hymn and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop Charles W. Nibley.

A long automobile cortege followed the remains to the city cemetery where interment was made.

There were present from Salt Lake City the following relatives: President Seymour B. Young, W. W. Riter, William Riter and B. F. Riter Jr.

R. S. MCALISTER

LOCAL DRUGGIST IS PLACED ON STATE BOARD

Yesterday's mail brought to Logan a communication from His Excellency, Governor Wm. Spry, appraising Mr. R. S. McAlister of the fact that the governor had just appointed him a member of the Utah State Board of Pharmacy. Mr. McAlister will become an active member of this board as soon as he qualifies by signing the constitutional oath of office and filing same with the Secretary of State.

This honor has been bestowed upon our townsman through his past work for the State Pharmaceutical Association, of which association he was the president until the last regular meeting which was held in Logan in June of this year. In the capacity of president of this organization, Mr. McAlister has become well acquainted with the druggists of the state and has shown his devotion and interest in drugs and laws pertaining thereto.

Mr. McAlister is manager of the Co-op Drug Store, one of the leading drug institutions of this city. This concern is known throughout Logan and the valley as "The Prescription Store," and it is the policy of the management to keep in his employ none but the most efficient help at the prescription counter. For the past fifteen years Mr. McAlister has been with the Co-op Drug Company, and for the past eight years has been manager, and is at the present time the principle stockholder.

WILSON AND THEODORE GIVE COMPLIMENTS

Statements of Two Great Leaders in American Politics Made
On Sunday

From Sunday's reports President Wilson and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt exchanged compliments Saturday. In his address at Shadow Lawn the President referred to the Colonel and his followers in these words:

And thereupon the great Progressive party sprung up—great not because it turned out to be more numerous than the party from which it had seceded though it did that—but because it had the real red blood of human sympathy in its veins and was ready to work for mankind and forget the interests of a narrow party. I want to pay my tribute of respect to the purposes and intentions of the men who formed that group in our politics.

In his address at Battle Creek, Michigan, Colonel Roosevelt, the Progressive chief passed the following to President Wilson:

We have seen in this country few things more discreditable to our representatives and more ominous for the future of the nation than the spectacle of the president and congress of the United States being required to pass a certain bill before a certain hour at the dictation of certain men, who sat in the gallery with their watches in their hands, threatening ruin and disaster to the nation if there was the smallest failure to satisfy their demands.

Let President Wilson apply this sacred eight hour day law to the servants in the White House and see how far he will get. I believe in the eight hour day as the general rule toward which we must strive, but I recognize that special needs must be met in special industries and that in all such cases there must be a very careful consideration of all the conditions before final action is taken.

The colonel referred to the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine as "the most color-saj single instance of the murder of noncombatants, including men, women and children, that had been perpetrated by any power calling itself civilized, for over a century."

I have been asked what I would have done if I had been president when the Lusitania was torpedoed, shouted the speaker. "I would instantly have taken possession of every German ship interned in this country and then I would have said: 'Now, we will discuss not what we will give, but what we will give back.' This utterance received wild applause.

His final compliments was a record breaker. The colonel declared that President Wilson in "fifteen messages, letters and speeches" made from December 9, 1914, to February 10, 1916, "took forty-one different positions about preparedness and the measures necessary to secure it, and each of these forty-one positions contradicted from one to six of the others."
